

CHILD AND FAMILY STUDIES MINOR

The child and family studies minor focuses on the development of children, the forms and functions of families, and the role of both in society at large. It offers students who anticipate working with children and families after graduation, as well as those who plan further study in the field, a solid foundation in these areas. (A Sociology major completing the child and family studies minor may apply only SOCI 210 Families to both programs.)

Code	Title	Hours
PSYC 210	Development Across the Lifespan	3
or PSYC 208	Applied Developmental Psychology
or PSYC 208H	Honors: Applied Developmental Psychology
SOCI 210	Families	3
Twelve elective credits in courses designated as Child and Family Studies, nine of which must be 300 level or above. Courses must be selected from at least two different departments (two different disciplines within one department is not sufficient).		12
Total Hours		18